Social Change, Industrialization, and the Service Economy in São Paulo, 1950-2020 Francisco Vidal Luna,Herbert S. Klein,2022-07-19 In the 1950s 80s Brazil built one of the most advanced industrial networks among the developing countries initially concentrated in the state of S o Paulo But from the 1980s decentralization of industry spread to other states reducing S o Paulo s relative importance in the country s industrial product This volume draws on social economic and demographic data to document the accelerated industrialization of the state and its subsequent shift to a service economy amidst worsening social and economic inequality Through its cultural institutions universities banking and corporate sectors the municipality of São Paulo would become a world metropolis At the same time given its rapid growth from 2 million to 12 million residents in this period São Paulo dealt with problems of distribution housing and governance This significant volume elucidates these and other trends during the late twentieth and early twenty first centuries and will be an invaluable reference for scholars of history policy and the economy in Latin America Las ciudades medias o intermedias en un mundo globalizado / As cidades médias ou intermediárias em num mundo globalizado Carmen Bellet Sanfeliu, 2009 El libro afronta una serie de retos complejos El primero est relacionado con la definici n de la principal variable que ste maneja las ciudades intermedias El segundo aborda las din micas y los cambios que ha comportado la globalizaci n en ese tipo de ciudades Esta obra es fruto de los trabajos de investigadores y profesores de diversas

Universidades y redes de investigaci n internacionales Who Marries Whom? Hans-Peter Blossfeld,A. Timm, 2012-12-06 Marriage and social inequality are closely interrelated Marriage is dependent on the structure of marriage markets and marriage patterns have consequences for social inequality This book demonstrates that in most modern societies the educational system has become an increasingly important marriage market particularly for those who are highly qualified Educational expansion in general and the rising educational participation of women in particular unintentionally have increased the rate of assortative meeting and assortative mating across birth cohorts Rising educational homogamy means that social inequality is further enhanced through marriage because better and worse educated single men and women pool their economic and sociocultural advantages and disadvantages within couples In this book we study the changing role of the educational system as a marriage market in modern societies from a cross national comparative perspective Using life history data from a broad range of industrialized countries and longitudinal statistical models we analyze the process of spouse selection in the life courses of single men and women step by step The countries included in this book vary widely in important characteristics such as demographic behavior and institutional characteristics The life course approach explicitly recognizes the dynamic nature of partner decisions the importance of educational roles and institutional circumstances as young men and women move through their life paths and the cumulation of advantages and disadvantages experienced by individuals
